

Meeting: 998, Houston, Texas, SS 12A, Special Session on Problems and Issues in Electronic Publishing

998-00-378            Katy Ginanni* (katyginanni@web.ebsco.com), EBSCO Information Services, Web Services Training, PO Box 1943, Birmingham, AL 35201. Triangular Relationships in Electronic Publishing: What Problem-Solving Solutions Can Subscription Agents Offer?

For many years, subscription agents have helped libraries acquire and manage their collections of print journals. They also play a role in helping publishers fulfill the subscriptions. Changes from print to electronic publishing carry unique challenges. There are a number of different sides to electronic publishing. Authors, publishers, researchers, readers, librarians and subscription agents all can have a part in the process. What does it take to have a successful publishing experience and what role can a subscription agent play? (Received March 02, 2004)